YOUR PRINTS ARE PRINTED WITH THE LATEST ARCHIVAL PRINTING TECHNOLOGY!

Your prints are heirloom quality and will last for generations to come if you take proper care of the images. Properly framed color prints should last over 165 years before any noticeable fading and/or changes in color occur. Properly framed Black and White prints should last 220 years before any noticeable fading and/or changes in color occur (See www.wilhelm-research.com). Proper frames should include "Acid Free" or PH Neutral mats, glues, and tapes and include UV Filter Glass. Prints should be kept away from high humidity environments. Low quality frames, mats, and glass will decrease the time that your print will resist fading and degradation!

Please note that using inferior glass that is not UV protected will decrease the life of your print by half. While that is still a very long time for a print to last, keep future generations in mind and invest in heirloom quality materials. Call us if you have any questions!
